1. Organization and Nature of Business

Brockhouse & Cooper Inc. (the "Company"), incorporated under the Canada Business Corporations Act, provides brokerage and financial advisory services. Brockhouse & Cooper Inc. is a member of the Investment Dealers Association of Canada (IDA), the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority, Inc. (FINRA) and the London Stock Exchange Inc. (LSE), is an Approved Participant in the Bourse de Montréal Inc., and is a Participating Organization in The Toronto Stock Exchange Inc. and The TSX Venture Exchange.

2. Significant Accounting Policies

- Basis of accounting The consolidated statements of financial condition have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.
- Basis of consolidation The consolidated statements of financial condition include the accounts of the Company's wholly-owned subsidiaries, Brockhouse & Cooper International, Inc. and Brockhouse Cooper Asset Management Inc. The assets and liabilities of the parent-founded subsidiary companies are initially recorded at cost. All significant intercompany transactions and balances have been eliminated on consolidation.
- Use of estimates The presentation of the statements of financial condition in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities at the date of the statements of financial condition. Actual results could differ from those estimates.
- Cash and cash equivalents Cash and cash equivalents consist of bank balances and short-term investments with maturities of three months or less from the date of acquisition. These financial instruments are classified as held for trading. They are carried in the statements of financial condition at fair value which approximates carrying value.
- Accounts receivable and accounts payable Accounts receivable are classified as loans and receivable and accounts payable are classified as other financial liabilities. These instruments are initially recorded at their fair value and are subsequently carried at amortized cost. Due to their short term to maturity, fair value and amortized cost are approximated by carrying value.

Securities owned

The Company classifies its securities owned as held for trading. They are carried in the statements of financial condition at fair value. Fair value is based on quoted market prices for exchange-traded equity and fixed income securities. In situations where the securities are not publicly traded or where restrictions on their marketability exist, securities are valued at management's estimate of market value.

Valuation of fixed income securities is affected by, amongst other factors, the liquidity of the securities, the size and the bid and ask spread, and the relative breadth of market and current yield price adjustments.

The Company accounts for its securities owned on a trade date basis and transaction costs are expensed as incurred.

Investments

The investment in a company subject to significant influence is accounted for under the equity method.

Fixed assets

Fixed assets are recorded at cost less accumulated depreciation and amortization. Depreciation and amortization are provided on the straight-line basis as follows:

Technology equipment	- 2 years
Furniture and fixtures	- 5 years
Leasehold improvements	- 5 years

Deferred charges

Deferred charges are comprised of initial start-up costs incurred by a wholly-owned subsidiary company which had not commenced operations at year end. These costs will be expensed once the Company commences operations.

Foreign currency translation

The functional currency of Brockhouse & Cooper Inc. is the Canadian dollar. Transactions and the financial statements of the subsidiary were translated into the functional currency using the temporal method. Under this method, each asset, liability, revenue and expense is translated into the functional currency by the use of the exchange rate in effect at the transaction date. At the year end date, monetary assets and liabilities are translated into the functional currency by using the exchange rate in effect at that date.

These statements of financial condition have been translated from the functional currency into U.S. dollars using the current rate method. Under this method, assets and liabilities are translated at the exchange rate in effect at the statements of financial condition date.

Financial instruments and brokerage agreements

The company's financial instruments consist of cash and cash equivalents, due from (to) clients, due from (to) brokers, accounts receivable, securities owned, due from related party and accounts payable. The classification and measurement of all such financial instruments are defined in the related accounting policy notes.

The Company is engaged in various trading and brokerage activities whose counterparties primarily include broker-dealers, bankers and other financial institutions. If these transactions do not settle because of failure to perform by either a client or counterparty, the company may be obligated to discharge the obligation of the non-performing party and, as a result, may incur a loss if the market value of the securities differs from the contract amount. The Company's risk is normally limited to the differences in market values of the securities.

Foreign exchange risk arises due to fluctuations in foreign currency rates. The Company conducts a significant portion of its business in foreign currencies.

Interest rate risk arises due to fluctuations in interest rates. The Company is exposed to interest rate risk on fixed rate securities owned.

On the exercise of stock options, consideration received is credited to additional paid-in capital.

New Accounting Pronouncements

Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes

In June 2006, the Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") issued FASB Interpretation ("FIN") No. 48, "Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes, an interpretation of FASB Statements No. 109". FIN 48 clarifies the accounting for uncertainty in income taxes by prescribing a two-step method of first evaluating whether a tax position has met a more likely than not recognition threshold and second, measuring that tax position to determine the amount of benefit to be recognized in the financial statements. FIN 48 provides guidance on the presentation of such positions within a classified statement of financial position as well as on de-recognition, interest and penalties, accounting in interim periods, disclosure, and transition. FIN 48 is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2007. The Company is currently evaluating the impact the adoption of this interpretation will have on its financial condition and results of operations.

Fair Value Measurements

In September 2006, the FASB issued SFAS No. 157, "Fair Value Measurements". This standard clarifies the definition of fair value for financial reporting, establishes a framework for measuring fair value and requires additional disclosures about the use of fair value measurements. SFAS No. 157 is effective for financial statements issued for fiscal years beginning after November 15, 2007 and interim periods within those fiscal years. As of March 31, 2008, the Company does not believe the adoption of SFAS No. 157 will impact the amounts reported in the financial statements. However, additional financial presentations and disclosures will be required about the inputs used to develop the measurements of fair value and the effect of certain of the measurements reported in the statement of income for a fiscal year.
